To Get Involved
Contact Mardell Jasnowski
mjasnowski@tnc.org
(402) 694-4191

nature.org/nebraska

Volunteer Opportunities
The Platte River Prairies

Between Grand Island and Kearney, NE, The Nature Conservancy manages a network of prairies and wetlands for biological diversity with a combination of prescribed fire and grazing. This land is also a working laboratory for the development of management techniques that restore and/or maintain high quality grasslands. Most importantly, it hosts a diversity and abundance of plants and animals.

Why Volunteer?

• Make a direct impact on prairie conservation
• Explore beautiful, high-quality prairies
• Learn plant identification, field skills and prairie ecology
• Make friends, exercise, and have fun!
• Explore a possible career and build your resume

Volunteer Opportunities

• Harvest seeds for prairie and wetland restorations
• Help control invasive plants
• Build and repair fencing
• Help lead crane-watching tours
• Maintain and repair machinery
• Care for our prairie nursery
• Housing available for overnight and long-term volunteering